Curriculum Vitae

Jean-Yves DOURMAD

INRA Agrocampus-Ouest

Jean-Yves Dourmad graduated in 1981 from AgroParisTech (Paris) where he obtained his PhD on nutrition of the reproducing sow.

He joined INRA in 1983 and contributed to a research program on energy and protein requirements of sows, and more recently, on the evaluation and reduction of the environmental impact of pig production systems.

His research is based on both experimental and modeling approaches.

He coordinated the development of the sow module of the InraPorc© model and software tool.

He belongs to "Pig farming system" research group of INRA UMR Pegase Unit (Rennes) and chairs the national transdisciplinary "Pig research committee" of INRA.
